November 2018

Dear friends of Holy Cross High School,

On behalf of the clergy, religious and lay faithful of the Diocese of Brooklyn, I am pleased to offer my best wishes to you on the occasion of Holy Cross High School's 2018 Hall of Fame Induction and Dinner.

Thank you for this opportunity to express my gratitude to the administration, faculty, and staff for their outstanding service and dedication to the goal of Holy Cross High School, to teach their students the importance of community involvement and service, and develop men and women of character who will be of service to their community throughout their lives -- a goal successfully achieved as evidenced by the individuals you have selected as this year's honorees. May God bless these extraordinary men and women as they are recognized for their continued dedication and generosity, in sharing their gifts and talents for the benefit of their high school alma mater.

With warm wishes for a successful 2018 Hall of Fame Induction and Dinner, and with every best that the Lord will extend His choicest blessings upon all those present at this special event, I am

Sincerely in Christ,

Dear Mr. Truesdell:

Greetings to you and to all the friends and supporters of Holy Cross High School on the occasion of your school's 2018 Hall of Fame Induction and Dinner.

This evening's event gives us a great opportunity to celebrate the success Holy Cross High School has had in educating our young men and women and in helping them develop the character and vision they will need to make strong contributions to our community, both today and long after they graduate from Holy Cross.

Tonight's event is also a great opportunity to celebrate the accomplishments of the outstanding individuals who are being inducted into the Holy Cross Hall of Fame tonight. On behalf of the 2.3 million residents of Queens, "The World's Borough," I offer our congratulations to Cathy Kenny MPH, James Malone, William J. McDermott Esq., Armando Petruccelli, James C. Quinn, Robert Reichenbach, Michael J. Scally and Stephen J. Stoute. I also extend salutes to Gerard "Rod" O'Connell, who is posthumously being awarded the prestigious Cross and Anchor Award this evening, and to Angelo Cozza and Taso Pappas, who are being posthumously awarded the esteemed Saint André Medal.

I hope all those in attendance at tonight's Hall of Fame Induction and Dinner have a wonderful evening. I also wish you and all of the faculty members, staff members, students and friends of Holy Cross High School continued success in all your endeavors.

Sincerely,

Melinda Katz

Dear Friends:

It is a great pleasure to join Holy Cross High School in welcoming everyone to its 2018 Hall of Fame Induction and Dinner.

Providing a well-rounded education for every young New Yorker is important to the unity and strength of our communities, and my administration is committed to helping our city's youth reach their fullest potential. Holy Cross High School has long been a leader in these efforts, providing a comprehensive education for its students that encourages them to excel academically and become productive members of their communities. As you gather to recognize the many accomplishments of the Holy Cross alumni being honored tonight, I am proud to applaud all those associated with this terrific school for the positive impact they are making in the lives of students throughout Queens and beyond.

On behalf of all New Yorkers, congratulations to this year's honorees and Hall of Fame inductees. I offer my best wishes for an enjoyable event and continued success.

Sincerely,

Dear Friends:

It is a pleasure to send greetings to everyone gathered for the Holy Cross High School's Annual Hall of Fame Induction and Dinner.

Since 1955, Holy Cross High School has been graduating well-educated, confident young men who go on to make their families and communities proud. The school's dedicated faculty and staff provide a supportive, disciplined environment where a love for learning is fostered and each student is given the opportunity to maximize his own unique potential.

Tonight, you pay tribute to distinguished alumni and beloved teachers on the occasion of this annual Hall of Fame induction. I am pleased to join in congratulating your exceptional honorees. These loyal members of the Holy Cross family remind us of all that can be accomplished when we give of ourselves for the good of others.

With warmest regards and best wishes for an enjoyable evening.

Sincerely,

WE WORK FOR THE PEOPLE
PERFORMANCE * INTEGRITY * PRIDE

From the Office of the President

The great number of years of faithful commitment to the ideals of a Holy Cross education represented by those pictured on the cover of this evening's program inspires us all. On August 9th we celebrated what would have been the 173rd birthday of St. Brother André Bessette, C.S.C. In just two years we will celebrate the 200th anniversary of the founding of the Brothers of St. Joseph who were the first order of the Congregation of Holy Cross. Yet, even the numbers 173 and 200 fall well below the cumulative number of years of respect for our mission represented by our inductees and honorees.

Thank you to all in attendance. Your support of Holy Cross High School by your presence is invaluable. You demonstrate what it means to be men and women of Faith, Community, Service, and Wisdom.

When you next pass by the campus you will see evidence of these four words on the building in the form of banners and crests. But better still, you will see the development of these characteristics in our students.

Thank you for your support of Holy Cross High School. And congratulations to our honorees and inductees who live their lives in the way of Holy Cross: Faith, Community, Service, and Wisdom.

God Bless, All!

From the Chair

Dear Alumni and Friends of Holy Cross,

I am honored to welcome you to the 2018 Holy Cross Hall of Fame Reception. This evening we honor people who have been very special to the life of our Holy Cross community. They reflect for all of us the dedication, commitment and achievements that have brought life to their community and to what we are all called to bring to reality; the words of Christ lived in who we are and what we do. I congratulate these honorees who have been selected to be inducted into the Hall of Fame, those who will receive the Cross and Anchor Award and the St. Brother André Medal of Honor.

The Founding Father of our Congregation of Holy Cross, Blessed Basil Moreau, tells us that our educational calling is not just for the mind, but must be as well for the heart. Minds are certainly challenged at Cross and so are the hearts of our young men and women, nurtured and transformed; transformed into great goodness. Moreau said of our early schools in nineteenth century France, "If there ever existed a time this type of education should be an influence in the lives of young people, it is now." The same exists today in a world of so much ignorance and hatred, so many thoughtless, heartless acts. Holy Cross is needed!

I thank all of you for your support of this evening's celebration. I thank you even more so for the support that many of you give Holy Cross that goes well beyond this one night. With the school and its families you continue Holy Cross' great mission.

I offer special gratitude to our honorees. Basil Moreau, in his writings on Christian Education tells us, and I say to you our honorees – "With eyes of faith, consider the greatness of your mission and the wonderful amount of good you can accomplish. And also consider the great reward promised to those who bring the truth to others and have helped form them into justice - They will shine eternally in the skies like stars of the heavens (Daniel 12:3)." Honorees – you now shine for us, eternal stars of the heavens!

On behalf of the Brothers and the Congregation of Holy Cross, I thank you for your support of our common mission. May God continue to bless you and the entire Holy Cross High School Community.

Sincerely yours,

CATHERINE KENNY, MPH

Chairperson, Science Department Holy Cross High School

"I love teaching at Holy Cross and truly believe it is a calling and this is where I am supposed to be."

Cathy Kenny and her sister Barbara grew up in Jackson Heights with their parents, Catherine, an Administrative Assistant at Estee Lauder and Peter, a Vice President of Emigrant Savings Bank. Cathy and Barbara attended Our Lady of Fatima grammar school before enrolling at St. Agnes High School in College Point.

Cathy's own Catholic upbringing was intrinsic in her decision to teach in the private sector. After graduating from The College of Mount St. Vincent she worked per diem at St. Luke's grammar school and St. Agnes High School before interviewing with Brother Karl Diemand in 1985 and accepting a faculty position as a Science teacher at Holy Cross High School. Cathy has never regretted her decision and has contributed to the prestige and growth of the school's Science Department with the establishment of the Science Research Program in 2006.

When diagnosed with breast cancer - and fortunate to have it detected early enough to be a survivor - Cathy thought about what she could do to turn it into a positive teaching experience and raise awareness of the disease. She learned of a program affiliated with the State University at Albany wherein students work with mentors - some of them Holy Cross alumni - on independent research projects, beginning at the end of their freshman year. They learn to network and interact with others, both at the school and off-site at prestigious facilities such as Sloan Kettering and Columbia Medical Center. All of her students have gone to college on scholarship and some have accepted positions at the organizations where they conducted their research. One of her students, Domenick Kamel '11 worked on a case study that was presented at the American Cardiac Conference in New Orleans. Another student, Malcolm Harris '12, worked with a professor at John Jay College on a research project that focused on ballistics and is now used in the courts. Robert Scagnelli '11, who is currently in his last year of medical school said, "Mrs. Kenny is the reason I decided to go into medicine. Through her mentorship in the science research program and the constant love, support and inspiration she gave me throughout the college applications process, I have no doubt that I truly would not be where I am today if it were not for her."

Another program Cathy founded at Holy Cross is "Real Knights Wear Pink" which raises money for breast cancer research. Students are in charge of selling t-shirts and bracelets and have raised more than $20,000 for Sloan Kettering over 10 years. She has also been a moderator in the annual Blood Drive and was one of the internal coordinators for Middle States Accreditation. In 2015 Cathy was named Chairperson of the Science Department.

Cathy met her husband, James (retired from Sony Music), when she was at Mount St. Vincent and he was down the road at Manhattan College. They reside in Whitestone and will be celebrating their 40th anniversary in 2020 with a trip to Greece. Cathy and Jim are very proud of their two sons, Peter and Daniel. Peter graduated from Holy Cross in 1999. He was Man of the Year, Valedictorian, and President of the National Honor Society and resides in Bedford, NY with his wife, Michelle, and their children Charlotte Lucia, Jackson Peter and Everett Francis. Daniel, who graduated from Regis High School in 2006, attended Boston College and currently resides in Washington, D.C.

After 39 years of teaching, Cathy often crosses paths with former students and their families. It is a constant reminder that she is part of the very special Holy Cross family and community, all striving for the same goals. Of her induction into the Hall of Fame, Cathy remarks, "I love teaching at Holy Cross and truly believe it is a calling and this is where I am supposed to be."

JAMES P. MALONE '70

*School Counselor and Coach
Garden City High School
Coach, Beach Channel High School*

*“As a student at Holy Cross watching
Brother Carl be so helpful to kids
I thought, ‘what a wonderful way to go through life.’”*

Jim Malone grew up in Richmond Hill with his brother Tom '72 and sister, Ellen, children of hardworking parents of Irish/German descent – Eileen and Jim. Jim was attending Our Lady of Cenacle grammar school when he heard about Holy Cross from a friend, Kevin Raftery, whose brothers attended the school. Although small in stature at the time, Jim went out for the freshman basketball team. “I grew nine inches from junior year to freshman year of college,” he remarked. He developed a strong connection to Coaches Bill O'Meara and Jim Kerr and Brother James Kane. The biggest influence at Holy Cross came from Brother Carl Winters, Director of Guidance. “He came across to me as very helpful to many of the kids and I thought, ‘what a wonderful way to go through life.’” Although he did not know it at the time, all of these gentlemen would have a profound impact on Jim’s career choices.

It was serendipity that led Jim to begin his career at Holy Cross. After graduating from SUNY Stony Brook with a BA in Sociology, Brother Carl encouraged Jim to pursue his Masters at Hofstra and intern for a year at Holy Cross, so that he could apply for a Guidance position when he left. Jim was hired in 1979 and for eight years enjoyed working at Holy Cross as a counselor and freshman and JV basketball coach where he developed strong ties with students and their families. He was also involved in Peer Counseling and the SAT program. “It was a wonderful time to work there....a lot of camaraderie and school spirit,” Jim shared. He later assumed coaching positions at St. Francis College and Beach Channel High School.

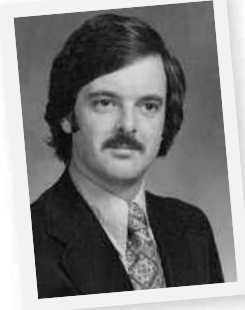

Jim first met his wife, Diane, at a dance when they were 14 years old. When they began raising their family of four – Terence, Daphne, Jamie and Paige - he joined the public school system starting at Lawrence High School and ending at Garden City High School where he currently serves as a guidance counselor and golf coach. After 40 years, Jim still finds working with students as a counselor rewarding and fulfilling. “It is important to me because it shows the kids that there is someone watching them grow and develop who cares about what happens to them.” He is also able to apply those skills and knowledge of the college application process as varsity basketball coach at Beach Channel. His achievements as a coach include Beach Channel Queens Champs 2003; Garden City Boys Golf Team Long Island Champs 2003 and Nassau County Champs 2002, 2003 and 2008. Jim was also awarded Newsday’s PSAL Coach of the Year in 1992. “Jim was one of my all-time greatest assistant coaches,” Coach Kerr recalls. “He was great with the kids and everyone loved him. He was very dedicated to coaching and the kids which is why he is so successful.”

In 2010, Jim and Diane lost their daughters Jamie and Paige in a tragic auto accident that impacted their entire community. To honor the girls’ memory, the Malone family established a foundation that supports many local charities. Residents of Floral Park, they count many friends among the alumni and former faculty in the area and enjoy spending summers in Montauk. Their daughter Daphne and their son-in-law Pete have blessed them with their first grandchild, Patrick, and another is on the way. Their son Terence is a Director at Barclay’s and enjoys living in NYC near his girlfriend Lisa. For Jim, who loved Holy Cross tremendously, being inducted in the Hall of Fame is an honor which he looks forward to celebrating with family and friends.

WILLIAM J. McDERMOTT, ESQ. '68

CFO, Sevenson Environmental Services

"I think I owe Holy Cross a lot more than it owes me. Holy Cross giving me this honor is unexpected and I couldn't be more pleased."

Bill McDermott grew up in Elmont, New York with his brother Kevin McDermott, Esq. '69, sister novelist Alice McDermott and parents Mildred and Bill Sr., both products of a devout Catholic upbringing. After graduating from St. Boniface, Bill, along with many kids from Elmont grammar schools, chose to attend high school at Holy Cross – his number one choice. Mirroring his parents' work ethic, Bill held after school jobs which, regretfully, precluded him from participating in school sports and other activities. "I had a paper route for Newsday, then went to work at a supermarket after school," he reminisces, "but once I had a car I was able to get involved with the school newspaper."

He did, however, excel in Math and English which would have a tremendous impact on his future career. He recalls with clarity the excellent teachers who laid the foundation for the rest of his education: Brothers Robert McMahon, Francis Ellis and Gerald Kenney, Mr. Robert Larkin and Mr. Roger Buckley. He credits Brother Kenney and Mr. Buckley for the valuable lessons he learned about structure and note taking. "You can see from the email exchanges between classmates how well we were taught to write," Bill observed.

After graduation, Bill spent two years at Queens College in pre-engineering, then transferred to the State University of New York at Buffalo to complete his B.S. in Civil Engineering, still unsure as to his direction. One of his professors encouraged him to apply to their law school to broaden his career opportunities and he earned his J.D. in 1975. "During my first year of law school I attended classes in the morning, worked part-time in an engineering job in the afternoon, then went home and read law books," Bill recalls.

But this foresight prepared Bill for an opportunity at Sevenson Environmental Services (best known for their role in the Love Canal cleanup) as in-house Counsel in 1975, and where he currently serves as CFO and General Counsel. He helped take the company public in 1989, then private again in 2002 as the firm transitioned from a general building contractor to an environmental remediation company. He has been a founding partner, officer and director of several other businesses that have since been sold or merged and holds leadership positions in several area organizations including the Canisius College Board of Regents, Niagara Frontier Corporate Counsel Association, Niagara County Business Association and Mathewson-McCarthy Babe Ruth Baseball League. He also was a lecturer at the State University of New York at Buffalo, Department of Civil Engineering.

Bill and his wife of 37 years, Jo-Ann, whom he met at the University as resident advisors, reside in Williamsville, New York and have two sons, Ryan and Steven. Ryan is an Attending Physician of Emergency Medicine in Scottsdale, Arizona. Steven, who followed in his dad's footsteps majoring in engineering and now attending law school lives nearby with his wife, Ariana. Bill and Jo-Ann love to travel and because of technology today he can work on the road.

Surprised and honored by his induction, Bill says that although he is geographically far away, Holy Cross is always in the forefront of his mind and is delighted that he is now in contact with his former classmates on social media. He very much enjoyed getting reacquainted with everyone who attended their recent 50th Anniversary class reunion. "I think I owe Holy Cross a lot more than it owes me. Holy Cross giving me this honor is unexpected and I couldn't be more pleased."

ARMANDO PETRUCCELLI '95

Managing Director, Morgan Stanley

*"If you look out for one another and if you work hard,
good things will happen."*

One of four offspring born to Italian immigrants Guilio and Nancy who met at Queens College, Armando Petrucelli learned early on that family, faith, a good education and strong work ethic were the keys to a successful life.

Growing up in Flushing, Armando attended St. Kevin's grammar school with his siblings Joseph '00, Teresa and Filippa. When it came time to choose a high school, Armando selected Holy Cross where there was always a member of the extended Petrucelli family in attendance. "There was at least one Petrucelli cousin in every grade," he recalled.

During his time at Holy Cross, Armando identified and developed his God-given talents in academics and athletics, earning him countless achievements including being named to the US Under-18 National Soccer Team, the All-American soccer team, and receiving the coveted Holy Cross Scholar-Athlete Award. As Captain, Armando led his Holy Cross varsity team to two consecutive CHSAA titles, a run which included 43 consecutive league wins. He also ran track and field to help stay in shape. As Armando neared the end of his time at Holy Cross and was being heavily recruited as a student athlete, Coach Paul Gilvary helped him navigate the process. Both he and Joe Giannuzzi, the Dean of Students at the time, were major positive influences in Armando's life and future.

Armando graduated Holy Cross summa cum laude and third in his class. These accomplishments also earned Armando an admission to Harvard University where he studied Economics and was a four-year letter winner for the Crimson. He led the Men's soccer team to multiple winning seasons and a berth in the NCAA tournament in the 1996 season and earned two first-team selections to the All-Ivy League team.

While making a name for himself on the men's team as a freshman, Armando met his future wife, Susan, who was a senior and Captain of the Crimson women's soccer team.

Having received invaluable career counseling from upperclassmen at Harvard, Armando took a position as an investment banker at Robertson Stephens in San Francisco after graduation. Three years later Armando joined Morgan Stanley where he currently serves as a Managing Director of the High Yield Sales Desk. Each year Armando seeks to hire one soccer student from Harvard and he recently returned to Holy Cross to share his life experience with students at Career Day. Armando credits his professional and personal success to the foundation he received at Holy Cross and makes a profound observation: "Holy Cross, Harvard and Morgan Stanley share basically the same culture and values...family, education and sports. Everyone looks out for one another and if you work hard, good things will happen."

Armando and his wife Susan reside in Manhasset with their three children, Madison (13), Luca (12) and Marco (9). He is on the 5 am train to the city every weekday morning but dedicates his weekends to his kids, family and volunteering for local youth athletic programs. When time allows, he reunites with fellow Holy Cross alumni on Sundays to play in Men's soccer leagues and to watch the occasional professional match. Armando's plans for the future are to retire at Morgan Stanley and travel the world with his wife who is currently producing a movie with the daughter of Pelle about a Brazilian female soccer player.

Armando recalls that whenever they won soccer games and championships at Holy Cross he and his teammates would wear their uniforms like badges of honor. He is grateful that with his induction into the Hall of Fame, and the award of the St. Brother André Medal to fellow honoree Taso Pappas '89, the Holy Cross soccer program will have begun to achieve the recognition it so well deserves. Armando is thankful to Joe Navarino '92, Rob Cairo '94 and Carlo Acquista '96 for their role in making this possible.

JAMES QUINN '81

Captain, FDNY

"The sense of family is the strongest asset Holy Cross offers."

Jimmy Quinn, or Quinnie as some of his closest friends refer to him, is a familiar face at Holy Cross because he is always willing to assist wherever he can lend a hand. Jimmy grew up in Flushing with his sister Patty, brother, John, and parents Jean, (retired schoolteacher) and James (Marine Corps Captain). "At the time, very few kids attended public school. Everyone on my block attended St. Andrews," Jimmy said. As a student at St. Andrews, Jimmy would attend basketball games at Holy Cross and there was no doubt in his mind his high school colors would be green and gold. He remembers attending the big alumni game that would take place on Thanksgiving Eve at Holy Cross.

Jimmy was an average student, second honors, who participated in sports and the Fine Arts Club. He was a runner at Holy Cross, and served as Captain of the Cross Country team his junior and senior years. During Jimmy's time at Holy Cross the individuals who most impacted his life included Coach Bill O'Meara, Joe Giannuzzi '65 and his Holy Cross guidance counselor and fellow honoree, Jim Malone '70, with whom he maintains a friendship to this day. Jim Malone was very influential to Jimmy. "I had a lot going on at home and he helped me with that." He also encouraged Jimmy to be a peer counselor.

Jimmy realized his lifelong dream when he joined the FDNY in 1989 and has been a Captain for 13 of his 29 years. Jimmy met his wife Cathy at a candle lighting vigil after 9/11. Ironically, they had lived in the same neighborhood in Flushing for years but their paths never crossed. Sharing many similar interests, Cathy is currently a gym teacher at St. Mel's and coaches cross country and girls basketball at Holy Cross.

While a staple at Holy Cross events for years - and always lending an assist - Jimmy returned to his alma mater in 2015 in yet another capacity as coach of the Varsity Golf Team. He is also a participant in the SSP (Student Sponsor Partners) program, mentoring and providing support and guidance to Holy Cross students from low-income households. Jimmy spends much of his spare time coaching and refereeing basketball games. He served as President of the IAABO International Athletic Association of Basketball Officials (2012-2014) and is area rep for the New York district of the College Basketball Officials Association. When Jimmy retires, he hopes to spend more time playing golf,

Jimmy and Cathy reside in Bayside and have a blended family of six children including Erica, Chelsea, Olivia, Mikayla, James '16 and Ciarra, and a grandchild, Tessa. James, the only boy amongst the 6 siblings - all of whom attended Catholic school - was a standout at Holy Cross and voted Man of the Year at graduation. Jimmy feels that 'family' is one of the strongest assets that Holy Cross offers. About his Hall of Fame induction Jimmy quips, "I feel like Phil Rizzuto when he was inducted in the Hall of Fame, I don't deserve it." Pete Segrave '81, Jimmy's lifelong friend and classmate, clarifies why Jimmy might feel that way. "He bleeds green and gold and has always put others before himself without expecting anything in return. He is everything that a Holy Cross Man embodies. Jimmy is being inducted for what he has accomplished for others, not himself."

ROBERT “RICK” REICHENBACH ’72

*President and Chief Executive Officer
Bird Bus Sales*

“Holy Cross gave me the work ethic I was going to need for the rest of my life.”

Rick Reichenbach was born in Flushing and attended Holy Family in Flushing with his sisters Jean and Patti. His parents Bob and Peggy were strong supporters of Catholic education and wanted the values they revered to be passed on to their children.

Admittedly not a stellar student, it wasn't until junior year that Rick began to appreciate and enjoy his time at Holy Cross. As his attitude improved, so did his grades. In retrospect, Rick says, “Holy Cross gave me the work ethic I was going to need for the rest of my life.” There were also a number of faculty members who encouraged and never gave up on him including Brother Frank Ellis and Robert Larkin, who Rick still reveres to this day. Rick credits Holy Cross for developing his character, commitment, discipline and leadership qualities and is a consistent supporter of the school's events.

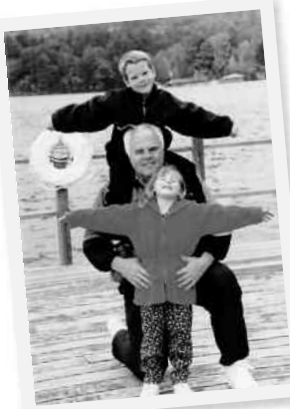

From a young age, Rick aspired to be a police officer and when his application to John Jay College of Criminal Justice was denied he showed up at the school day after day in a suit hoping to land a spot. His tenacity paid off and he attended for two years at night before he realized being a police officer was not a good fit. “Sometimes you go to school to learn what you don't want to do,” he points out. He did graduate after five years at night.

While in college and bartending on the weekends he was offered an opportunity by a truck manufacturer to sell their equipment and discovered an aptitude for sales, ultimately establishing his own successful bus dealerships. In 1997 Rick started his own company as a partner with former employers, and seven years later, bought them out. Today Rick has two service facilities and a parts department and is grooming his son, Robert, to take over the business.

His early experience tending bar led him to purchase a failing pub in his early 20's which he parlayed into a thriving local eatery (Fillmore's Tavern, Fresh Meadows). He has since added a golf course in New Jersey and several restaurants to his business portfolio, including the former White House Restaurant in Whitestone where he hosted meetings as a member of the Holy Cross Golf Classic Committee.

Rick shares his success with many individuals. His dad gifted him with life lessons along with golden opportunities throughout his career. His cousin Bill has been there to support him in good times and bad. Fellow HC graduates, Neil Filomena '71, Don '76 and Kevin '78 Kiley were there when most needed along with close friend Tom. He has been blessed with family, friends and clients who have taken life's ride with him.

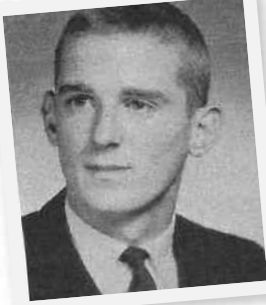

Along the journey, Rick met and married his wife of 28 years, Linda, and they moved from Little Neck to Manhasset to raise their children Robert and Maggie, his two greatest successes in life. The Reichenbach's volunteerism and philanthropic endeavors are vast because they feel truly blessed. Rick has received recognition from the Flushing Hospital Medical Center (where he is a trustee), the American Cancer Society and Boys Scouts of America. Rick is involved with raising support for numerous local charities and organizations and is a member and past member of the Knights of Columbus, Mineola Lions Club, Community Mayors of NYC and North Hills Country Club. But perhaps his greatest joy over the last 20 years is visiting Flushing and Jamaica Hospital Medical Centers with his family dressed as Mr. and Mrs. Claus and their elves, giving gifts to the children and spreading holiday cheer to those most in need of it during the season.

MICHAEL J. SCALLY '65, P'05

Former Fathers' Club President

*"I came from "the Point" and went to "the Cross" where my
Catholic faith was strengthened.
I am a better person
because of "the Cross"*

Born and raised in College Point, Mike Scally attended St. Fidelis grammar school along with other baby boomers of his generation. According to Mike, the Dominican nuns wanted the entire eighth grade to attend the new high school opening in Astoria where they would be the first graduating class. When Mike announced to his mother Frances that he would like to attend Mater Christi, she informed him that because his brother Jack '64 was already enrolled in Holy Cross, his tuition would be discounted. Although Mater Christi was a good school, going to "the Cross", Mike says, "turned out to be the best decision that was ever made."

During freshman year Mike played football, basketball and J.V. Baseball. While he missed his friends from "the Point", sports helped Mike make new friends at Holy Cross. Playing up as a sophomore on both the basketball and football varsity teams was a tremendous accomplishment and in senior year he made the All-Queens Basketball Team. A loss to Power Memorial (with Lew Alcindor) in the CHSAA semi-finals capped an undefeated season in which Mike contributed 208 points.

After graduation Mike attended Centenary College in Louisiana, a Division I school, on scholarship, where he played with some future greats including Elvin Hayes and Walt Frazier. After leaving Centenary, Mike began his career in the restaurant business and at one point owned his own establishment. In 1997 he began a career with the Metropolitan Transit Association, driving the local bus lines and express bus to the City. After 15 years he was ready to retire at the age of 65.

Mike's relationship with Holy Cross was far from over when he graduated in 1965. When his son, Michael, Jr. '05 enrolled at Holy Cross, Mike joined the Fathers' Club. He served as President for four years and is still an active member of the Club today. Mike stated that the best part of his life was raising his children Mike, and daughter, Frances, who graduated from St. Agnes High School as Class President in 2003. He will also be forever grateful for meeting his wife of seven years, Rose Ann, after a Fathers' Club function. Together they reside in Whitestone and are enjoying the benefits of retirement.

In addition to his outstanding volunteerism at Holy Cross, Mike is involved with the College Point Athletic Club and coached CYO basketball and softball at St. Fidelis. In recognition of his service the MTA Bus Emerald Society named him Man of the Year in 2007.

All of Mike's memories of Holy Cross are happy ones thanks to the many wonderful people he was fortunate to meet, especially Brothers Joseph McDonnell, John Joseph and Stephen LaMendola and Father Robert Hater.

"Through the ups and downs of life I relied on the faith and strength I received from the Cross."

STEPHEN J. STOUTE '88

Founder and CEO
Translation Enterprises

“Strive for Greatness”

Steve Stoute has shared the stage with celebrities, dignitaries and CEO's as a media and marketing guru, yet perhaps one of his most moving appearances took place at the Holy Cross library when he shared how Coach Tom Pugh's guidance and mentorship steered him to the path less traveled. Steve thanks Coach Tom Pugh for his pivotal impact on his career path. “When I first met Steve I knew right away he would be successful,” Pugh recalls. “He had self-confidence and grit, so that even when he was out of his comfort zone, he was able to handle any situation in a mature manner.”

Steve's journey has taken him from leadership roles at Sony and Interscope representing musicians such as Nas, Mariah Carey, Gwen Stefani, Enrique Inglesias and Eminem to owning one of the most influential multimedia marketing agencies in the world. This marketing agency represents brands such as the NBA, NFL, HBO, State Farm, Nike, and Apple. His book, The Tanning of America, and four-part VH1 documentary, encapsulates Steve's unique marketing and advertising approach and is considered as required reading for any branding executive. Most recently Steve launched UnitedMasters, an artists' services company that redefines yesterday's “record label” by using data to distribute, market and connect artists to their fans. a new concept in data-driven music distribution and marketing.

Steve has been the keynote or featured speaker at many noted conferences including the NBA All-Star Tech Summit, the Sundance Film Festival, South by Southwest (SXSW), Google Zeitgeist and as a commencement speaker at the University of Southern California. He has also appeared on the main stage at the Cannes Lions International Festival and has shared his views on a number of television programs including The Today Show, Nightline and Morning Joe, as well as in publications including the New York Times, Wall Street Journal, Business Insider and Fast Company. He has been inducted into the Advertising Hall of Achievement, recognized as one of Fast Company's Most Creative People in Business and named Executive of the Year by Advertising Age.

Steve's deep connection to community and hip-hop culture permeates his philanthropic work as well. He serves as an advisor to SocialWorks, a non-profit founded by Chance the Rapper, in their work supporting public schools. He has supported programs that protect American culture and history as a donor to the Smithsonian Museum of African American History and Culture and through Transation's partnership with the Lyndon B. Johnson Presidential Library.

Steve is forever a student of life, staying curious and tapped into culture. Expanding on his longstanding relationship with athletes, Steve recently collaborated with LeBron James and Maverick Carter to bring light to the student athlete epidemic and how they are being exploited. Their HBO documentary, “Student Athlete,” aired on October 2, 2018.

GERARD “ROD” O’CONNELL ’61

(Posthumous)

“Those who knew Rod knew he was selfless and generous to a fault.”

– John Douglas ’61

Rod, or Roddy, O’Connell was born and raised in Douglaston, New York, where he lived in the same house on Prospect Avenue for 69 years until his passing in 2014. There was no member of the community more active and hands on than Rod, so much so that they dubbed him the “Unofficial Mayor of Douglaston.”

In the summer of 1957, just after Rod graduated from St. Anastasia and was getting ready to enter Holy Cross High School, his father died suddenly. Rod’s lifelong friend and classmate John Douglas ’61 recalls that Mrs. O’Connell received much needed help from Holy Cross to ensure her son would continue his education at the school which opened only two years earlier as the first boy’s Catholic high school in Queens.

With a gregarious personality, even as a young man, Rod enjoyed his time at Holy Cross. His interests were vast and he was a member of the Biology and Aeronautics Clubs and served as an usher and on the Dance Committee. He also played cymbals in the Holy Cross band all four years under the directorship of Brother Renatus Foldenauer, C.S.C. and was especially fond of his Science teacher, Richard “Doc” Schiliro.

After graduating from Villanova, Rod worked for the Practical Nurses Association in New York and began a career in the real estate business in Little Neck and Douglaston. He eventually became a partner, then sole owner, of Bryce Rea Realty. As his real estate business thrived, Rod turned his attention to helping wherever he was needed. He was an active member of the Community Church of Douglaston Theater, the Douglaston-Little Neck Lions Club and the Douglaston Civic Association. Rod was also instrumental in the popularity and growth of the Little Neck Douglaston Memorial Day Parade, one of the largest parades in the country, and volunteered with the Visiting Nurses.

Rod’s interests were broad – he traveled all over Europe, Egypt, Ibiza, the Greek Islands, Russia, and would regale friends with his repetition of a somewhat disastrous trek in the Himalayas, when he emerged from a murky swamp covered head to toe with leeches. And his love of the arts – theater, opera, every genre of music – led him to have a very “social” life in Manhattan, attending galas and balls, his tuxedo always at the ready!

Back at Holy Cross High School, whenever there was a class reunion Rod was often the first to arrive and the last to depart – as long as the music played. His friend Bill Burke ’61 recollected that a number of his classmates mentioned their wives were hobbling around the day after an event due to Rod’s energetic love of dancing with all the ladies. He also supported the school’s Hall of Fame Dinner, Golf Classic and Spring Raffle.

Rod also involved himself, very quietly, in helping others. He had a generosity of spirit that saw no bounds – not just supportive and emotional, but very concrete and tangible, from the many teenage guys and girls he helped on a rocky path to adulthood, to numerous others he supported through emotional difficulties, lost loves, or financial hardships – always focusing on the beauty of life.

During his last visit with Rod in the hospice, John informed him he would be establishing the Rod O’Connell Scholarship Fund at Holy Cross High School to provide financial aid to students and their families - with preference given to members of the band. For his devotion to Holy Cross High School and the community-at-large we are honored to present the Holy Cross High School Cross and Anchor Award, posthumously, to Rod O’Connell, Class of 1961.

ANGELO COZZA '83 (Posthumous)

"He was a great player who led by example and never asked anyone to do anything he wouldn't do."

– Coach Tom Pugh

Angelo Cozza was born in Brooklyn and raised in Ozone Park along with his three siblings, Elizabeth, Joseph and Juliana. Sadly, his dad Louis passed away when Angelo was only 9 months old. Nevertheless, his mother Audrey made sure her children received a Catholic education which began at St. Sylvester's grammar school. When it came time to choose a high school, Angelo was determined to attend Holy Cross despite the inconvenient commute on public transportation from southwestern Queens.

Angelo went out for football as a freshman and played all four years at Holy Cross. He soon became a "superstar," admired by his teammates not only for his ball handling but for his leadership skills. "I loved that kid," says Coach Tom Pugh. "He was a great player, one of the leaders on the team. He led by example and never asked anyone to do anything he wouldn't do."

After graduation, Angelo went away to school on scholarship but returned soon after and attended New York Tech to be closer to home. He worked in Finance for a brief period before being called by the New York City Fire Department where he spent most of his time at Ladder 146 in Williamsburg, Brooklyn.

Shortly prior to that, in 1990, Angelo met his wife, Joann at a club in New York City which she visited with her brother, Joseph Baratta '84. "My brother actually chaperoned our first date," she joked. "They had not seen each other since high school and quickly rekindled their relationship."

When Angelo married Joann in 1992 he became a dad to her son, Philip, and daughter, Tara, and soon became the coach for their baseball and softball teams. Their family grew to include daughters Michelle, Jena and Angela and the Cozza family made their home in Levittown on Long Island. Angelo was an amazing person, Joann recalls fondly. "He was the life of every party...he had more video time than the bride and groom at weddings." Angelo also belonged to the Holy Name Society, Knights of Columbus and was a CYO coach and referee.

Angelo passed away from prostate cancer at the age of 36 on August 2, 2001, a month prior to 9/11. Joann reflects that perhaps Angelo "was needed up there to greet all of the guys who died that day." Joann shared that while he was in the hospital Angelo had many visits from former coaches, colleagues and friends. When a group of NYC firefighters trekked to Indianapolis to play a basketball tournament in the 2001 World Police and Fire Games and Angelo was unable to make the trip, they played in his honor. Every day they kept him updated on their results and eventually brought home the gold in spite of the odds not being in their favor. The team visited him in the hospital to present him with his medal upon their return. "The fire department was like a second family," Joann said. They continued to pay tribute to Angelo through annual football tournaments and dinner dances. And to honor his love of all things Holy Cross, the Cozza family established a scholarship award in Angelo's name at the school.

In recognition of his inspiration to everyone whose lives he touched, tonight we are proud to present the St. Brother André Medal, posthumously, to Angelo Cozza, Class of 1983.

TASO PAPPAS '89

(Posthumous)

*"As an athlete
he took your breath away"*
— John Knesich '89

At the age of five, Anastasios (Taso) Pappas was introduced to the game of soccer and instantaneously became devoted to the sport. "From that very moment, Taso was rarely seen without a soccer ball in his hands or at his feet," said his friend and teammate, John Knesich '89.

Growing up in Jamaica, then Whitestone, with his brother George and sister Mina, Taso was a source of pride for his parents Steve, a carpenter, and Barbara, a homemaker. When he wasn't volunteering at his Holy Cross Greek Orthodox Church Sunday School, he was playing soccer for St. Mel's CYO, the Blue Angeles Istria Club, Westchester United and the Pancyprian and Olympiakos teams. But it was always his dream for years to play on Holy Cross High School's soccer team.

During his four years at Holy Cross Taso realized his dream. In senior year he was voted Most Valuable Player of the Catholic High School Soccer League. Not only did Taso excel at Soccer, he was equally as successful with regard to his academics. He had a unique ability to excel at anything he set his mind to and worked hard for the grades he needed to apply to some of the most prestigious schools, hoping to continue his passion for the game throughout his college career. His hard work paid off and in senior year Taso was offered a full scholarship to Fordham University to play for the Division I Rams and his future looked bright.

On Taso's 18th birthday, April 24, 1989, he was on the way home from school when he was involved in an automobile accident which sadly took his life and extinguished his dreams. His sudden and untimely death was a crushing loss to his family and friends and the entire Holy Cross community.

According to John, Taso was an exceptional young man who exuded warmth, generosity and had an infectious personality. "As a person, he had a mesmerizing charm and people were always drawn to him. As an athlete, he took your breath away."

John recalled times when, following a game, the team would go out to eat and Taso would ask his father for money - not only for himself but for his teammates who could not afford it. His sister Mina recalls how he loved showering his parents and siblings with gifts. "Every holiday from Valentine's to birthdays he would buy them gifts just to make them happy and see the smiles on their faces. He was simply a remarkable young man that blessed those who knew him."

To keep the memory of his generous and caring nature alive, the Pappas family established the Taso Pappas Memorial Scholarship at Holy Cross High School. Over the years the award has been presented to deserving Holy Cross students. In the image of Taso's achievements, the honored recipient was chosen based on their soccer and academic abilities. "This scholarship has been a wonderful way to keep Taso's memory alive, said his brother, George. "It has truly honored his life and love of soccer."

Dearest Rick,

Congratulations on your induction into the Holy Cross High School Hall of Fame! The blessings of a Holy Cross education combined with your tenacity and integrity have led you to have such a strong and positive impact on your family, the communities in which you work, and on society as a whole.

Your success is largely due in part to your commitment to community service and, no doubt, stems from your years as a student at Holy Cross. Your knowledge, leadership skills, perseverance and commitment to excellence in business make you an extraordinary role model and mentor. Your presence, dedication, guidance, warmth, affection, sense of humor, sentimentality and ability to love deeply make you a treasured son-in-law, husband, father, brother-in-law and uncle.

Our love for you is immeasurable and our respect for you is immense. We are very proud to call you “ours”!

WITH LOVE from the whole MEHR FAMILY!

*Holy Cross High School Hall of Fame Inductee:
Mr. Rick Reichenbach*

I met Rick back in 2001, as we began our 17 year-long business and personal relationship. For all of you who know Rick, like I do, he is the Real Deal. Rick and I have been through some interesting and challenging times over the past 17 years. I watched Rick as he built his bus business from a small business to now one of the leading Bus Dealerships in the Country.

I remember the first day I met Rick, we went to dinner and discussed our families and our backgrounds. As we finished dinner, the one comment that has stuck with me for the past 17 years, Rick shook my hand and said "My word is everything to me, when I give you my word, you can take it to the Bank". This has been true since the day I met him.

Over the years, I have admired Rick. His passion and commitment to building his Companies and more importantly, helping to provide a safe means of transportation for the students of New York.

I am honored to be associated with such a great friend and business colleague.
